New york city tour guide book

Walking tours are a wonderful way to visit a new place, especially New York. Exploring on foot gives you the opportunity to see a neighborhood up close and learn more about the people and places that make it vibrate. We have put together a set tour of free walking tours of New York for visitors on a budget. These tours cover a variety of neighborhoods, as well as two of New York's major parks - Central Park and the High Line. Know that free tours tend to attract large groups, so you're not going to get the same intimate experience as you could experience some of the best walking tours in New York, but you can't beat the price! 01 of 07 Andrew Burton/Getty Images Every Friday at 12:30 p.m. you can experience a wonderful tour of Grand Central and the surrounding area run by Justin Ferate or Peter Laskowich. In addition to exploring some of the highlights of Grand Central Terminal, it also includes many of the neighborhood's highlights, including Pershing Square and the Chrysler Building. Is it free? Seems hard to believe, but that's exactly what Big Apple Greeters offers visitors to New York. Since 1992, this non-profit organization has put visitors in touch with New York volunteers who want to share their skills and their favorite neighborhoods with visitors to New York. They even have a no-tipping policy, but if you like what you're going through, you should donate to Big Apple Greeters to keep their services available. Please note that guided tours are assigned on a first-come, first-served basis, so book well in advance to have the best chance of getting a guided tour. 03 of 07 Barry Winiker/Getty Images Free Tours By Foot offers a variety of walking tours of New York, most of which are free (on their food tours you pay for your own samples). Most tours are 2 hours long and cover only one neighborhood, but they also have an All-In-One-Tour which is 6 hours long and covers many neighborhoods of New York. The guides on these tours work exclusively for tips, so keep this in mind and appropriate tip if you are happy with your experience. They recommend tipping $10 per person for their 2-hour visits and $25/person for the 6-hour visit. 04 of 07 MichaelStubblefield/Getty Images The Central Park Conservancy offers free walking tours covering many different areas of Central Park. Visits range from 30 minutes to 2 hours and are by volunteers from the Central Park Conservancy Walking Tour Program. These tours provide visitors with an excellent opportunity to understand Central Park and learn more about the history and design of the park. Visits are classified for difficulties, and some are accessible to people with disabilities. Advice? No, but consider donating to Central Park Conservancy. When you factor in the sign-up bonus in addition to the constant expenses on Marriott cards, you'll have your fair share of points to redeem. Staying at Marriott hotels is another way to earn Marriott points. You will earn 10 points per $1 spent as a Marriott member and 10-75% bonus points depending on your elite Marriott membership level. Marriott also partners with American Express and Chase. This means you can transfer American Express and Chase points to Marriott. The value is low when carrying out these types of transfers, so we recommend transferring american express and chase points to their high value airline (and hotel with Hyatt and Chase) partners instead. IHG Rewards ClubIHG Rewards Club Credit CardsChase issues the two IHG credit cards that are subject to the 5/24 rule. This is important to keep in mind if you are planning to apply. CREDIT CARDCARD INFOIHG® Rewards Club Traveler Credit Card Now Earn 100,000 bonus points after spending $2,000 on purchases in the first 3 months from opening the Earn account up to 15 points in total per $1 spent when staying at an IHGEarn 2x hotel points on purchases at gas stations, grocery stores and restaurants; then 1 point per $1 on all other purchases. Annual fee: $0 for the first year, $89 thereafter® Rewards Club Premier Credit CardThe IHG Premier card was the IHG® Rewards Club Select credit card (which is no longer open to new applicants). As a card member, the best benefits of this credit card are the elite IHG status, the annual certificate for a property requiring up to 40,000 points per night, and a fourth free night on a price reservation. IHG® Rewards Club Traveler Credit CardThe other IHG card issued by Chase is the IHG Traveler card. Earning extra points at IHG properties, in addition to bonuses at gas stations, grocery stores and restaurants, is the main reason to pick up this card. In addition to the bonus category winnings, card members receive a reward night when you redeem points for any stay of 4 nights or more. Not bad for a card with no annual fee! If the IHG status Elite is what you are after, the IHG Traveler card allows you to earn your way to that status. IHG Rewards Club Award ChartSimilar to Hilton Honors, IHG uses dynamic awards. The number of points required to book a room varies, so to know how many points you will need per hotel per night, you will need to run a price search. Other ways to earn IHG Reward Club Points Another option is to transfer Chase points directly to IHG to book a Stay. Chase points have a ton of value so we don't recommend you make this transfer. Instead, we recommend exchanging Chase points with its most valuable airline and hotel partners. Hilton HonorsHilton honors credit cardsHilton partners with American Express to issue its credit cards. No matter what type of traveller you are, there is a Hilton credit card for you. Free weekend night certificates for a standard room are the Hilton carrot uses to entice new credit card registrations. These cards have an annual fee, however, but it is easy to offset the fees by exchanging these certificates. The Hilton Aspire card is Hilton's premium traveler-oriented card that finds value in its free weekend night certificate. Another Hilton card that allows you to earn an extra free weekend night certificate is the Hilton Surpass card. By spending $15,000 per calendar year on this card, you'll earn an extra free night. Like the Hilton Surpass card, by spending $15,000 per year on the Hilton Business Amex card, you'll earn a free certificate for the night of the weekend. An additional free weekend night certificate can be earned by spending $45,000 per card member year. Bottom Line: Check out our Amex Hilton Honors credit card comparison if you need a deeper dive into Hilton cards. Everything you need to know is covered in this article. Hilton Honors Award ChartHilton does not use an awards table and instead uses dynamic awards. This means that the number of points per night will change depending on the date. The Explorer Points tool is what we found useful in determining how many Hilton points you need to book a free night. Enter your destination in the Where do you want to go? search bar. Then enter the number of points you have in the How many points per night do you work with? scroll bar. Finally, the search results will tell you how many points you will need to book a hotel in this area. Other ways to earn Hilton Honors PointsHilton credit cards make it easy to earn the Hilton points you need. 3x and 14x points in spending categories like airfares, grocery stores, Hilton purchases, and restaurants is what you can earn with the range of Hilton cards currently available. Other ways to pad your Hilton points balance include paying for cash stays at Hilton properties, taking Lyft walks, and transferring American Express points. Similar to Chase and IHG, we do not recommend transferring Amex points to Hilton, but do recommend using Lyft to earn 3x points by 1 spent on rides.
